PLANNING FOR POST-COMPLETION OPT

When should I start the OPT application process?

WHAT IS MY PROGRAM COMPLETION DATE?

ISSO will shorten your I-20 to your program completion date – typically the last day of the semester you complete your program. Your program completion date determines the timeline for applying for OPT.

➔ Additional Considerations:

- Graduation date \neq program completion date
- Students cannot delay graduation to extend program completion date.

PROGRAM COMPLETION DATE:

Coursework Only Degree Programs

Coursework only programs are:

- Bachelor's degrees
- Master's degrees without a creative component or thesis

Program completion date:

- Last day of semester in which last required course is taken
 - Fall 2022 – 12/16/2022
 - Spring 2023 – 05/12/2023
 - Summer 2023 – 08/04/2023

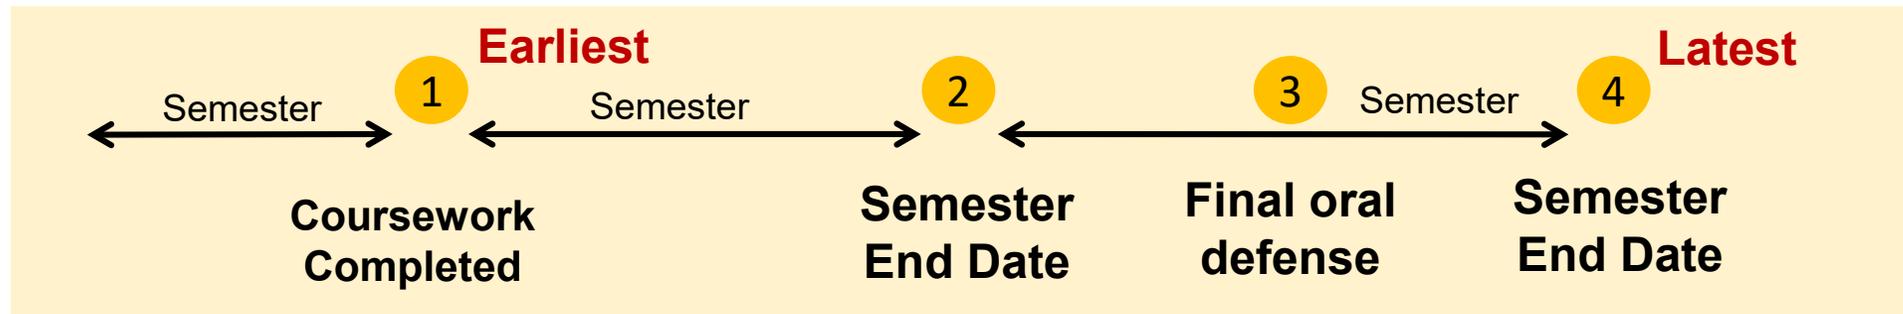

➔ ISSO will shorten your I-20 at the time of your OPT request if needed.

PROGRAM COMPLETION DATE:

Creative Component, Thesis, or Dissertation Degree Programs

Program completion date options:

- 1. Earliest: Last day of the semester in which POS coursework is finished (excluding research credits)
- 2. Last day of any semester after POS completion
- 3. Final oral defense date (if during the semester)
 - Must be officially scheduled with Graduate College
- 4. Latest: Last day of the semester in which you defend
 - If you defend in the interim period between two terms, then your latest I-20 end date will be the last day of the term previous.

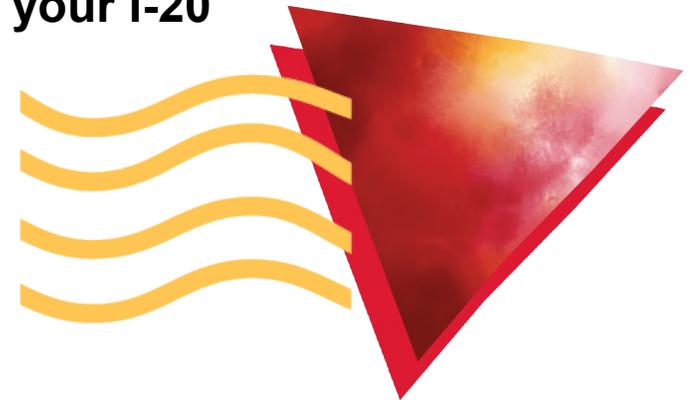

IMPACTS OF PROGRAM COMPLETION DATE:

On-Campus Employment

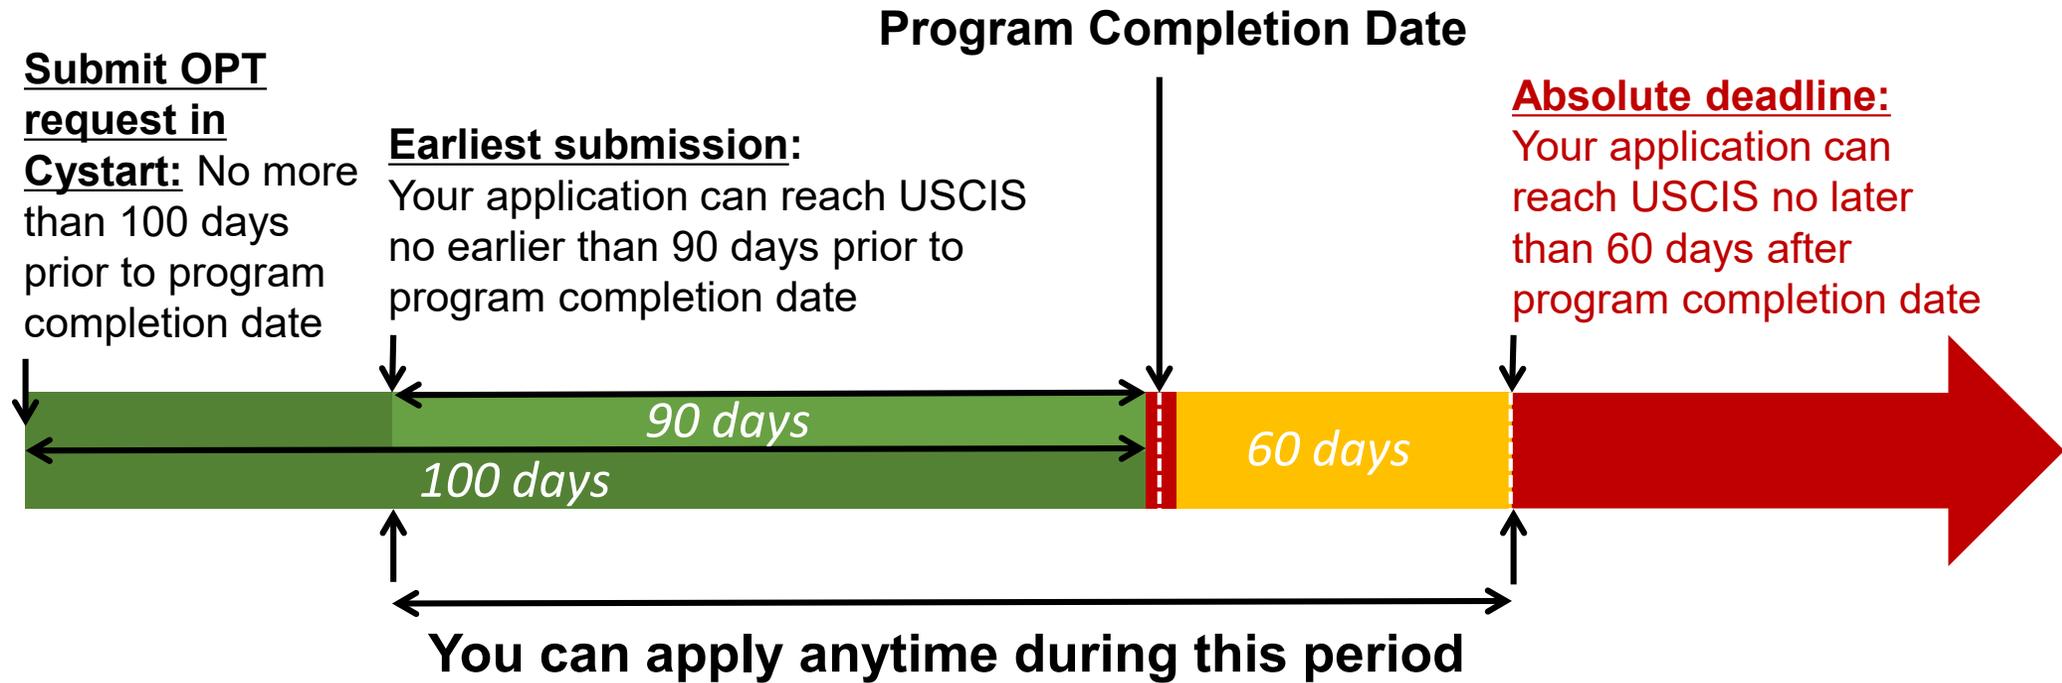

- All on-campus employment (such as graduate assistantship or hourly position) must end by program completion date (I-20 end date).
- ISSO will notify your on-campus employer when your employment authorization has been shortened.

Eligibility for resident tuition and scholarship benefits for students with graduate assistantships may be affected if you elect to shorten your I-20 program end date to the date of your defense.
