1. Accept your offer of admission to Iowa State.
2. Log in to the Housing Portal to submit your contract. As part of this process, you will choose preferences (aka: places you'd want to live). Check out housing options here. Not sure where you want to live? It's okay! You can adjust your preferences, add roommates or choose learning communities later.
3. Submit your contract and you're set!

Remember, on campus housing fills up quickly, especially as enrollment continues to rise. Make sure to submit your contract as soon as possible to secure on campus housing.

OFF CAMPUS HOUSING

Ames has a variety of rental properties that exist off campus. If you are renting off campus only use reputable rental sites and avoid establishing rentals through sites like Facebook Marketplace.

The City of Ames website offers a Rent Smart Guide for individuals renting in Ames. It offers an overview of what renting in the city looks like and city policies regarding rentals.

What to Bring?

Amenities vary based on which on or off campus housing you choose. Make sure to look over what is included in your space on the Department of Residence's website or the website of your rental of choice, if living off campus.

The Department of Residence has a handy guide on their website with recommendations on what to bring with you or purchase once you are in Ames. You can find it here.

PLACEMENT TESTS

ENGLISH PLACEMENT TEST:

Incoming international students who are not native speakers of English, not enrolled in distance-only programs, or who do not meet at least one of the exemption criteria for the English Requirement may take the English Placement Test (EPT).

The English Requirement is different from the English proficiency requirement needed for admission to ISU. Students who are admitted to ISU may be required to take English classes to meet this requirement.

Please note that failure to take the EPT in your first semester may cause difficulties in planning your course of study and delays in your graduation.

EPT EXEMPTIONS:

Check the English Placement Test webpage and review the criteria listed under the Exemptions tab to determine whether you meet the English language requirement.

If at least one of the exemption criteria apply, you have met the English requirement and should not take the EPT. Your student records should be automatically updated to indicate that you have met the English requirement. You do not need to do anything for this process to occur. If you do not meet the English requirement, you need to take the EPT on campus prior to your first semester.

Students who are confident that they have sufficient English proficiency may (re)take TOEFL iBT, IELTS, or Pearson PTE, at their own cost, to demonstrate their English proficiency. Required scores for meeting the English requirement are on the Exemptions tab of the EPT website.

EPT REGISTRATION:

Registration opens two weeks prior to the next available testing date. To register select the Registration tab for information about how to register. Students who need to take the EPT will need to take both parts:

- EPT Writing.
- EPT Oral Communication.
- You will select a time when you register for the test.

Test descriptions, sample questions, scoring guides, and other information are available on the EPT website. If you still have questions after reading this information, email them to ept@iastate.edu.

ORAL ENGLISH CERTIFICATION TEST (OECT)

Only for teaching assistants

For graduate students with teaching assistantships, you will have to complete the in-person OECT prior to the start of the semester. To view available dates and learn more about registering for the OECT, please visit the International Teaching Assistants Program website.

After you have completed the registration, you will receive a confirmation email with instructions to select a preferred test slot. However, it is strongly recommended that you login periodically to check for available test slots since it is a busy test period. If there are no more slots, continue to login since new slots may be added if there is enough demand and if there are sufficient raters.
